America

My country, 'tis of Thee,
Sweet Land of Liberty,
Of Thee I sing;
Land where my fathers died
Land of the pilgrim's pride,
From every mountain side
Let freedom ring.

My native country, thee,
Land of the noble free,
Thy name I love;
I love thy rocks and rills,
Thy woods and templed hills.
My heart with rapture thrills
Like that above.

Let music swell the breeze,
And ring from all the trees
Sweet Freedom's song;
Let mortal tongues awake,
Let all that breathe partake;
Let rocks their silence break,
The sound prolong.

Our Father's God, to Thee,
Author of Liberty,
To Thee we sing.
Long may our land be bright
With Freedom's holy light,
Protect us by Thy might,
Great God, our King.

OUR GLORIOUS LAND, TODAY,
'NEATH EDUCATION'S SWAY,
SOARS UPWARD STILL.
ITS HALLS OF LEARNING FAIR,
WHOSE BOUNTIES ALL MAY SHARE,
BEHOLD THEM EVERYWHERE
ON VALE AND HILL!

THY SAFEGUARD, LIBERTY,
THE SCHOOLS SHALL EVER BE
OUR NATION'S PRIDE!
NO TYRANT HAND SHALL SMITE
WHILE WITH ENCIRCLING MIGHT
ALL HERE ARE TAUGHT THE RIGHT
WITH TRUTH ALLIED.

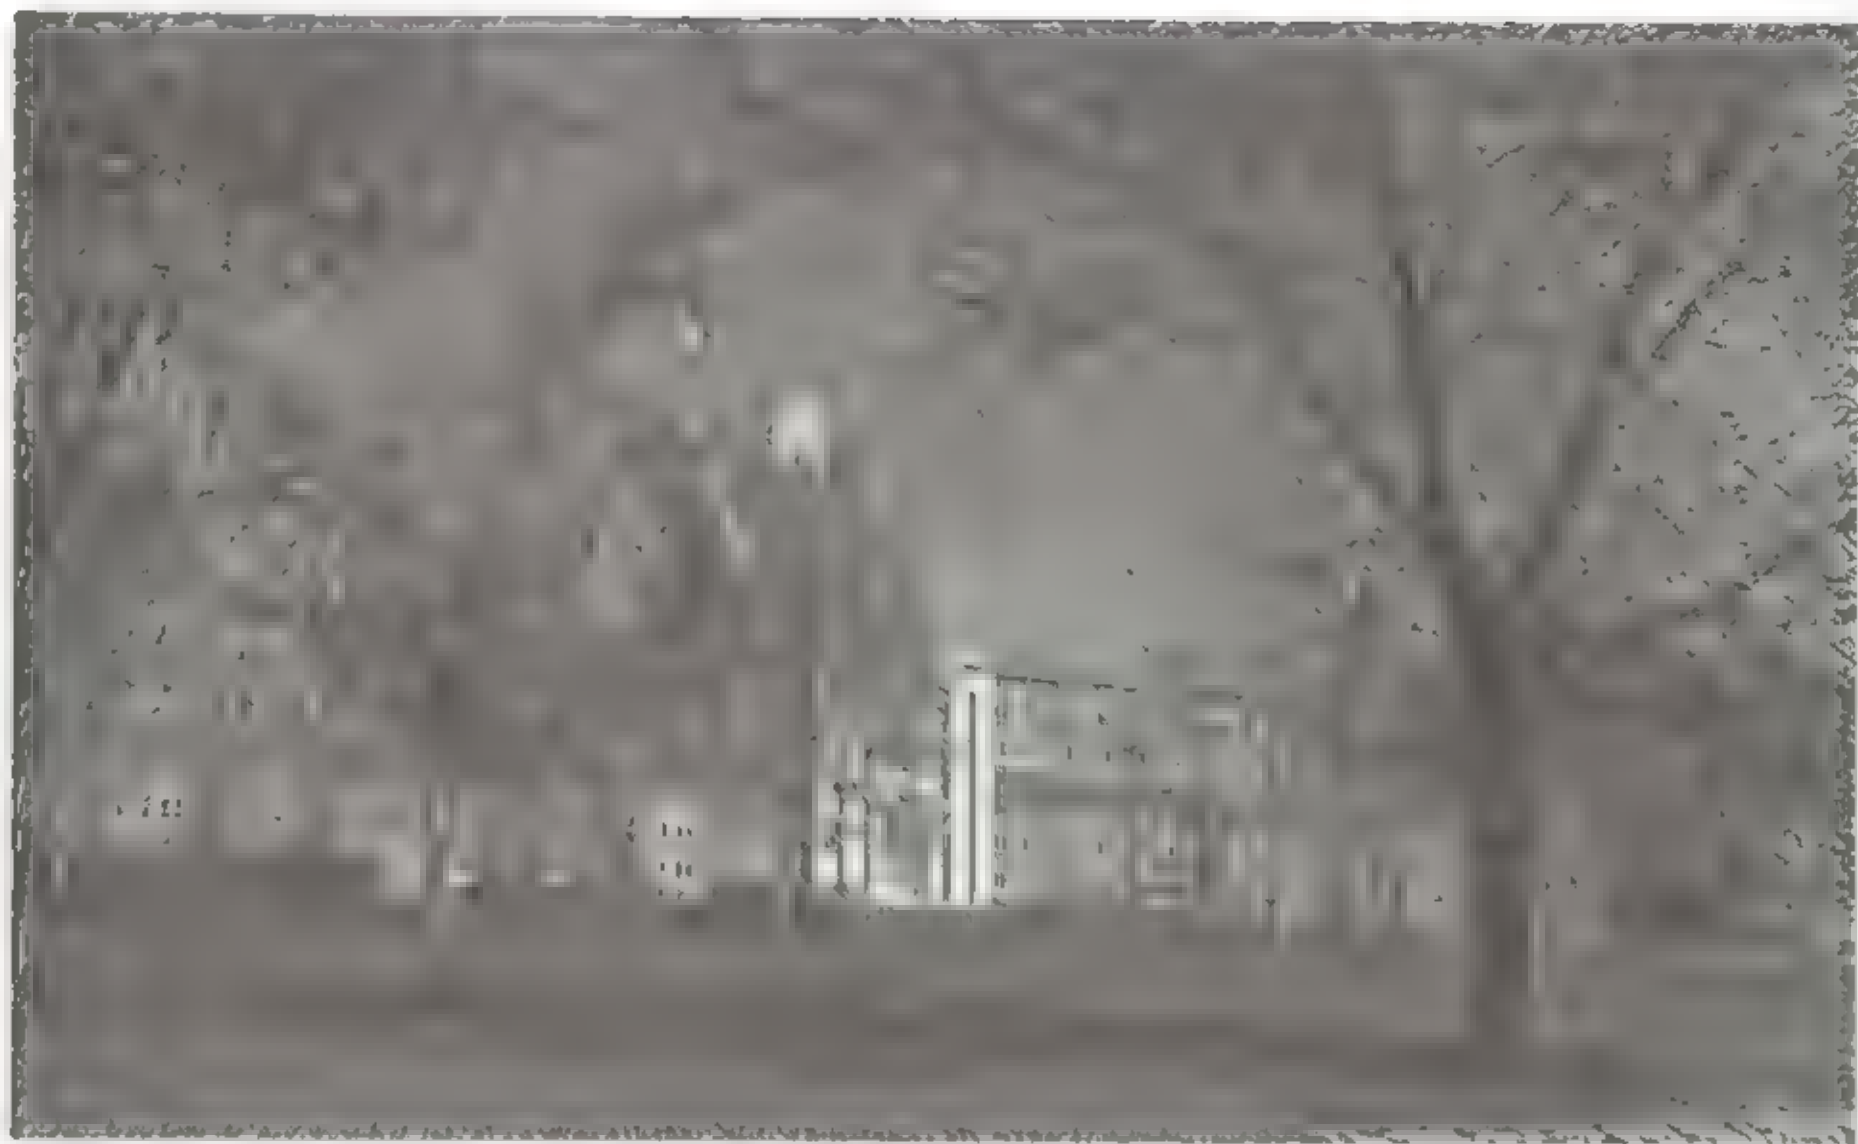

LET MUSIC SWELL THE BREEZE,
AND RING FROM ALL THE TREES
SWEET FREEDOM'S SONG ...

LET MORTAL TONGUES AWAKE,
LET ALL THAT BREATHE PARTAKE:
LET ROCKS THEIR SILENCE BREAK,
THE SOUND PROLONG.

Alma Mater . . .

The words may bring to mind a song or perhaps a building. But to us at Berlin Brothersvalley Joint High School Alma Mater has come to mean much more.

It means studying and learning
It means help and understanding.
It means laughter ringing and echoing through the halls.
It means a spirit of friendship and unity.
It means the lump in your throat and the ache in your heart at graduation.

But most of all it means people. For it is the people—the classmates, the friends, the teachers and administrators—who make our Alma Mater live forever in our hearts and memories.

To this, our Alma Mater, we dedicate this 1968 edition of the Bervalon.

Foreword

In Berlin Brothersvalley Joint High School we have the right to choose our own course of study, to participate in whatever activities we like, and to continue our education if we wish. These things are taken for granted by most of us, but in many countries students have nothing to say in these matters. Our school is much different from one in a country where less freedom is found

In this book we have tried to show the functions of a school that exists in a free society.

"Freedom of thought and freedom of speech in our great institutions of learning are absolutely necessary for the preservation of our country. The moment that either is restricted, liberty begins to wither and die, and the career of a nation after that time is downwards."

—John Peter Altgeld

Administration

Mr. James M. Cassel

Supervising Principal

If you have a philosophy of your own, it could include the sum of your ideas and convictions. Do your best; be loyal to your friends; and many other ideals might be parts of this philosophy

Or again, to those of us in the field of education, our philosophy could well include a love and pursuit of wisdom, a quest for truth, and inquiring minds

Above all these, for me over the years in the field of education, has been the thrill of having in my humble way served and then experienced the joy of seeing our students succeed in life. No material success can equal this as a reward.

—Mr. James M. Cassel

One of the sometimes thankless tasks involved in any school system is that of serving on the Board of Education. With continuing changes in the realm of education, the functions of the Board become quite complex. The men who are our School Board have a big job in the many aspects of school management. Their work must show sincere interest in the welfare and the constant improvement of our school

The president of the Board discusses school policies with two administrators

Mr. Anthony Cugini
High School Principal

It is Mr. Anthony Cugini's wish that each student will realize what really made our country as great as it is and that our school will instill in each student the patriotism and individual responsibility to carry out the duties of a good local and national citizen.

He has made the statement, "I hope I never see a Berlin student burning a draft card or displaying disloyalty to the American government in any way."

Principals

Mr. Kenneth Largent believes that elementary education has many advantages due to the complex age in which we live. He has stated, "In our democratic society the elementary school is responsible for providing an adequate educational program that will enhance all of the educational aspects of our boys and girls." In Mr. Largent's opinion this will assure each student of becoming all he is capable of becoming.

Mr. Kenneth Largent
Elementary Principal

E.S.E.A. Program

The Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 has made possible a summer school program at the Berlin Brothersvalley Joint Schools. This program, under the direction of Dr. Guy Hartman, is designed to give enrichment to the educationally deprived. During the 1967 term, courses were offered in reading, mathematics, local history, health, art, music, and physical education.

Dr. Guy N. Hartman
Project Coordinator

Students are tested, counseled through the Guidance Program

In a fast-paced and ever-changing world, students more and more need guidance concerning both their high school days and their future plans. Our guidance department supplies these needs through tests, information, and individual student counseling.

Richard Campbell, A.B.

A student's health is an important factor in his development. The school nurse keeps health records for each student, gives hearing and vision tests, administers various tests to prevent or detect illness, and provides care in case of illness or accident at school.

The Home and School Visitor is responsible for all attendance data. This position involves keeping attendance records, filing state reports on attendance, investigating reasons for absences, and admitting students who have been absent

Every student benefits from Pupil Services

The nurse checks Jane's weight

Students who have been absent present the required excuses signed by their parents

Secretaries keep school offices running smoothly.

In a school system, as well as in a business, there are many office duties. Each day the secretaries are busy behind the scenes efficiently and responsibly executing many of these tasks—typing, taking dictation, receiving and making phone calls, selling lunch tickets, printing the daily bulletin, bookkeeping, and performing innumerable other services.

Faculty And Curriculum

The Library

We think of our library as the hub in our academic wheel because all of the students from every department come here to study, to do research, and to find books and magazines to read for pleasure. Hundreds of excellent volumes are shelved here. In fact, the quantity of fine books has exceeded the available space. To help remedy this situation a new microfilm machine has been purchased and installed in the library for student use.

Betty Boyer, B.S.

The library is filled with activity as books are selected, checked out, and fines are paid for overdue books.

Jackie Maust and Jackie Brant take advantage of the new microfilm machine

English

A comprehensive study of the English language is the foundation of any education in America. Grammar is the basis for communication. An effective means of communication is important in every field of study. Creative writing further advances a person's ability to express his ideas. The study of literature introduces a student to the ideas of others and the methods used to express these ideas. This should help him to mature mentally and to develop ideas of his own.

Mabel Hay, B.S.

An eighth grade reading class struggles with one of the necessities of school life—a test.

Thomas Sprowls, B.S.

A senior college prep class and Mr. Sprowls enjoy a discussion of English literature

Foreign Languages

Students interested in foreign languages may study either French or Spanish. New methods of teaching languages include the use of records and tapes which bring the voices of native speakers into the classroom. The objectives for students studying a foreign language are speaking, understanding, reading, and writing the language, as well as acquiring an appreciation of the culture of the countries where the language is spoken.

Earphones and tape recorders combine to form a modified French language lab for the fourth year French class

Mathematics

The study of mathematics becomes progressively more advanced each year from the teaching of basic concepts to more complicated ideas. The students of seventh and eighth grades study basic concepts. Students taking the college preparatory course then go on through algebra, geometry, mathematical analysis, and trigonometry. Other students study general mathematics or business mathematics.

Juniors in a geometry class try to remember which scale is to be used with which other scale on the slide rule.

"We all know the answer to number four is $nPr = n(n-1)(n-2) \dots (n-r+1)$.

$$\frac{(n-r)(n-r-1) \dots 3 \cdot 2 \cdot 1}{(n-r)(n-r-1) \dots 3 \cdot 2 \cdot 1}$$ which can be simplified to \dots !"

The Sciences

Thomas Gerber, M Ed

Donald Peterson, A.B.

Wayne Suder, M Ed

In this age of exploration and discovery our scientific background is very important. The science program offered here gives us this background. Basic general science and biology are required of all students. Chemistry and physics are offered to those students having the desire to engage in more advanced scientific study.

An eighth grade science class tries to assimilate as much knowledge as possible, so that they, as seniors, will be prepared for

Physics class!

History

History, the study of the past and present, is essential to the future. By studying the mistakes made in the past, future generations can avoid making the same ones. Students gain an understanding of the people of the world through the study of other cultures. As voters of the future, students must have a knowledge of the democratic form of government and its problems. The history curriculum is designed to make responsible and informed citizens for tomorrow

Business Education

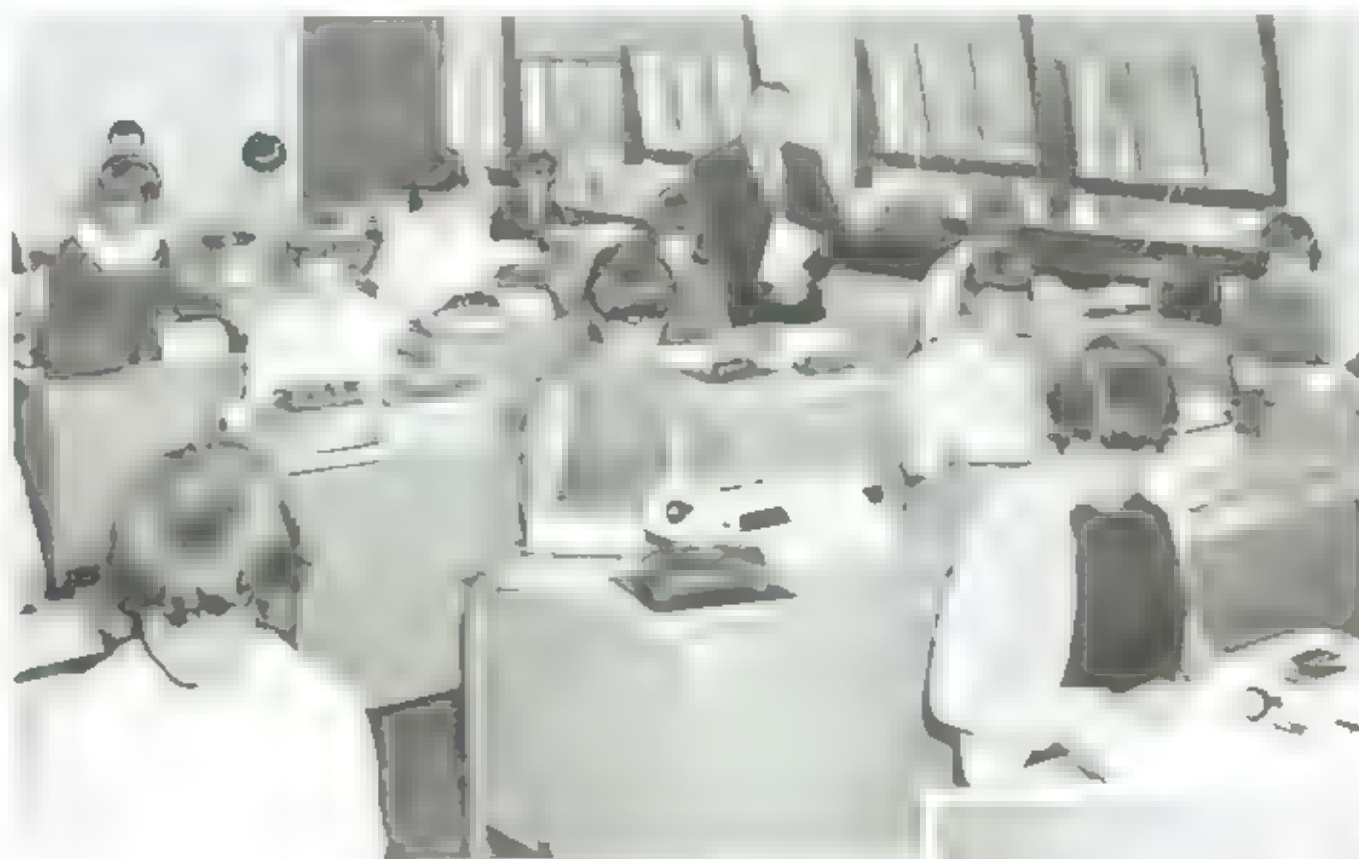

The business curriculum prepares students for future positions in the field of business. They are taught skills in bookkeeping, typing, shorthand and transcription, business English, law, sales, and filing. This course might be classified as a terminal course, for the student who applies himself here finds that he is equipped for a position in the business world immediately upon being graduated from high school.

Elizabeth Shuck and Carol Fochtman learn to use the Gestetner duplicator, one of many business machines familiar to students in this department

Vocational Agriculture

Boys desirous of becoming farmers or entering a related occupation usually take the Vocational Agriculture course. A wide variety of information and experience is included in this course, with subjects ranging from dairy nutrition and milk testing to ornamental horticulture and plant nutrition. Students also gain valuable experience in the use of modern farm equipment. Since we live in a farming community, this is an important and practical course.

Vocational Home Economics

In the attractive and well-equipped Home Economics department of our school students are taught the skills which will enable them to become efficient homemakers. By their senior year, these girls have not only become proficient in sewing and cooking, but also have a practicable knowledge of family nutrition, good etiquette, and the psychology of maintaining successful and happy homes

Industrial Arts

The Industrial Arts course is designed basically to prepare a student for a technical school after graduation. He learns the principles of mechanical drawing and sketching. Later he studies woodworking, and he learns to plan his projects, use power tools and machinery, and, finally, to apply the finish to his sanded project. Also included in the curriculum is an extensive course in automotive mechanics.

Jerry Smith practices scale drawing at a drafting table, and Dan Weighley levels a piece of wood on the surfacer.

Marlin McClintock, M Ed.

Elmer Cone, M Ed.

After a practice session, Mr. Cone discusses the students' driving

Driver Education

Good driving habits and knowledge of safety procedures are the objectives of the Driver Education course. This is an elective course for students in eleventh and twelfth grades. In addition to classroom instruction, students are given practice in driving on the open road.

Fine Arts

In the fields of art and music students are able to develop their talents through various media. Instruction is offered to interested and talented students in both vocal and instrumental music, and the result of this instruction is evident in the chorus and ensemble, and in the band, dance band, and orchestra. In the art department students are given an opportunity to develop their talents and to appreciate the work of others

Exercising to the lyrics of "Go, You Chicken Fat, Go", the seventh grade girls work to keep fit

Physical Education

In the physical education class, we exercise, take physical fitness tests, and participate in various sports and games. These activities help us to develop a coordination of mind and body; and, equally important, they instill in us qualities of sportsmanship, leadership, and teamwork.

We Pay Tribute . . .

Most of us remember Mr. George S. Dively as the teacher, principal, and friend with the ready smile and words of encouragement for all who knew him. Although he has retired from the position of principal of the elementary school, we wish to recognize him for his forty-four years of faithful and devoted service in the field of education. We would like to say, "Thank you, Mr. Dively, for a job well done."

Class History

At the beginning of our freshman year, as others before us, we thought of the day when we would be seniors, but it was far off in our imaginations. That year we elected Jim Austin, Dan Weighley, Debbie Ream, and Linda Ludy as our first class officers.

In our sophomore year, we joined in more school activities. We chose Barbara Beverly to represent us at Homecoming. Cindy Webreck was selected to participate in the Somerset County Science Seminar, and John Shultz attended All-County Band. Our officers were John Shultz, David Suder, Brenda Hauger, and David Shaffer.

We reached our junior year with the realization that we were almost to the top of the ladder. We chose Kevan Ickes, David Shaffer, Bonnie Poorbaugh, and Patty Jo Landis as our officers. They led us in our magazine campaign and other activities. Elaine Baker was selected as our attendant to the Homecoming Queen. Tom Maust and Darlene Miller attended All-County Chorus, and Tom went on to District Chorus. John Shultz and Gloria Ludy participated in All-County Band. One of the highlights of the year was the presentation of "Bachelor Father" with Sharon Landis and David Suder in the lead roles. At the close of the year, in the excitement of our first Prom, Sandy Webreck was selected as the junior Prom attendant.

At last our senior year arrived. It was difficult to realize that we really were seniors. For this last, important year, we elected Gary Kimmel, Darrell Bush, Bonnie Poorbaugh, and Gerald Hillegass as our officers. Patty Jo Landis was chosen Homecoming Queen with Lynn Harris, Sandy Webreck, and Joyce Shumaker as her attendants. Cindy Webreck was named a semifinalist in the National Merit Scholarship competition, and later she was given the female lead role in our senior play, "Mr. Gallion's School". The male lead was played by John Shultz. These activities, plus many others, caused our senior year to draw very quickly to a close.

Our high school days are history now, the things that we've done mere memories. We see our graduation as a beginning, a foundation on which to build toward our goals, and the knowledge that has been imparted to us as a key to the treasures the future can hold.

The Student Council is composed of one elected representative from each homeroom. This organization functions as the legislative body of the school. It not only passes rules and regulations for the student body but also does much to promote the general welfare of the school and to develop school spirit.

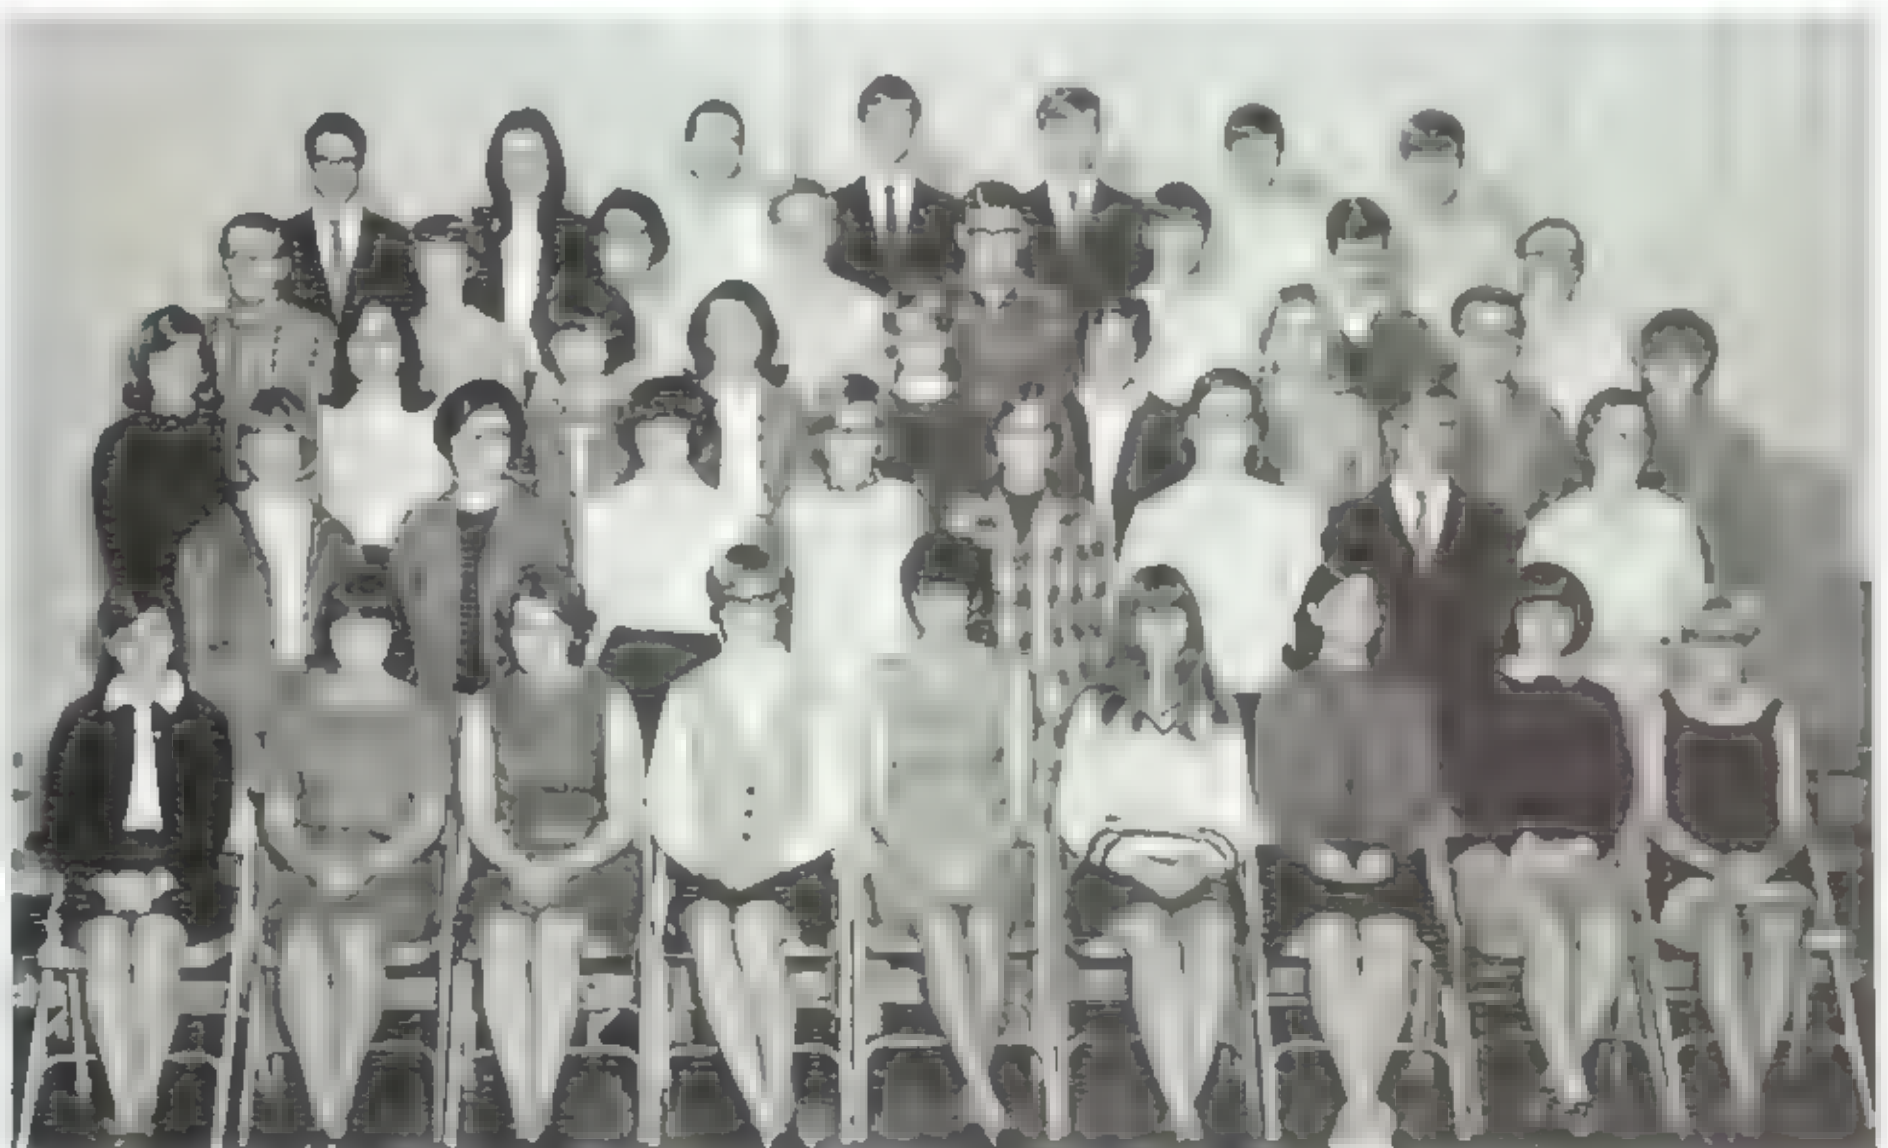

Hall Patrol

The members of the Hall Patrol perform a vital service to the school—that of maintaining order and discipline in the corridors during the intervals between classes. Members are selected at the end of the junior year so that they may become familiar with their duties in order to be well-prepared to carry on this function during the senior year.

GAA, organized in 1950, is composed of girls in grades ten through twelve who wish to participate in more athletic activities than the regularly scheduled ones. At the end of the year the senior girls receive sweaters with stripes representing the number of years of service they have contributed to the club

Chico

The Chico Club, a unique organization of long-standing here, was begun in 1933. Its purpose was to serve as a social organization during the depression for the girls of Berlin High School. Today it is composed of junior and senior girls who maintain a C or better average. The tradition of a year-end formal dinner dance, started by the original club, is still observed.

Mr. John Lichvar

Basketball and football players in grades nine through twelve are eligible to join Varsity B. The aim of this organization is to create spirit and loyalty among its members and in the school and to boost athletic activities. Each year Varsity B buys a trophy to be presented to the most outstanding senior athlete.

Stage Crew

The Stage Crew works behind the scenes performing such duties as opening and closing the curtain, operating the lights, and placing risers and props where they are needed.

The Patrol Club takes pride in protecting the life and safety of each individual in this school. The bus patrol assists the bus driver in following safety rules and in helping to maintain order on the bus. The town patrol is responsible, before and after school, for directing students across intersections.

Athletics is an essential part of BBJHS. Athletics develops not only strength, skill, and co-ordination, but also a sense of competition and fair play. School spirit, developed here, later evolves into a feeling of nationalism. A well-conducted program of athletics helps build better citizens for tomorrow.

When, as seniors, we look back on our Alma Mater, we remember many things—the sharp peal of laughter for a joke well told, the understanding smile of a close friend, the look of approval for a job well done, the hot flush of shame for a reprimand justly earned, the excitement of a football game, the quiet of a deserted hall.

All of these things and countless others are the essence of what will be our memories of our high school days.

Beneath Heaven's gracious will
 The stars of progress still
 Our course do sway;
 In unity sublime
 To broader heights
 we climb,
 Triumphant over Time
 God speed our way!

The lowering of the flag—the end of a day—and, for the seniors, the end of an era.

As we think back over our school years we are filled with a sadness difficult to describe. We will be leaving school traditions, friendships that have grown stronger each year, and a familiar way of life. We have become a part of this school, and it has become a part of us. But time goes on, and things change. Our school years were an important part of our lives, but they were only the beginning. They were stepping stones to prepare for the future.

As the flag rises to meet the challenge and promise of a new day, so we must rise to meet the challenge and promise of the future. We pray God we have acquired the wisdom to do so.

Grand birthright of our sires,
Our altars and our fires
 Keep we still pure!
Our starry flag unfurled,
The hope of all the world,
In Peace and Light impearled,
 God hold secure!
